Performance Marketing Management

Meta & Google · Proposal · November 2026

THE ENGAGEMENT

Workshop has the brand, the product and the customers, and no performance marketing yet. We'd build it from the ground up: the data foundations first, then Meta and Google run to best practice, in a way that adds to the brand rather than spending it down.

Three months to set up, launch and find what works on a £15k initial test budget, then scale it.

SCOPE

PHASE 01

Performance marketing foundations

- Measurement: server-side tracking on Meta (Conversions API) and Google (Enhanced Conversions), deduplicated, consent-ready, one UTM taxonomy
- Product feed: one Shopify feed into Merchant Center and the Meta catalogue, titles written the way people shop for coffee
- Audience segments: subscribers, repeat, one-time, lapsing and engaged-not-bought, each with a job: exclude, retain, win back or seed
- Data syncs: Klaviyo and Shopify segments refreshed automatically into Meta and Google, with new-customer goals on both

Running Meta & Google

- First campaigns built and launched: Meta prospecting and catalogue, Google Shopping / PMax, non-brand and brand search
- Creative led by product and craft, offers used deliberately, frequency capped. Ads that look like Workshop
- Day-to-day management, budget allocation and pacing across both channels, with QA before anything goes live
- Weekly iterations, the most frequent rhythm we recommend, scaling budget into what works

THE FIRST TWELVE WEEKS

WEEKLY RHYTHM — Monday read on backend data → Tuesday priorities agreed with you → Wed–Thu changes live in the accounts → Friday a written note on what changed, what we learned and what's next.

CLIENTS & TRACK RECORD

- Bleach London · introduced paid social from zero and scaled it to £50k/month. The closest match to Workshop
- Sunday Citizen · all growth marketing, multi-market ecommerce, $400k monthly spend
- Dropps · £300k/month of Meta at first-order profitable CAC
- Current: Huel, Personio, Rollr. Previously: Manual, Ethique, Silverbird, Peakon

> "Before Michael, our growth was a set of channels. Now it's an engine. He set P&L-first targets from day one, which changed every conversation we have about spend."
